HAUN VALUES

HELPFUL, HUMBLE, HONEST AND HEART DRIVEN... We've been hearing these words for a few months now. We know what they mean individually, but are we living these values to the fullest in our every day lives ESPECIALLY as it relates to our positions here at Haun?

Last month, the Syracuse branch held a food and sock drive to benefit our local community church. As they do every year, Jon Kyle and his wife generously donated multiple cases of canned goods to our cause. The Kyle family has been one of the biggest supporters of our annual food drive for several years. They are an amazing example of Helpful, Humble, Honest and Heart-Driven. Carol, Jon's wife, said to us "we live humbly so we can donate generously".

Thank you, Jon and Carol Kyle, for your continued support and generosity!

DEPT FEATURE SERVICE DEPARTMENT

As most of you know, the Syracuse and Buffalo branches are home to Haun's two service departments. Our service technicians and writers are amazing at keeping our customers up to date on the status of their machines as well as keeping up to date on the multiple lines of machines that we sell and service.

The service departments have been working through supply chain issues, increased customer demands as well as the on-going staffing issues everyone is facing. The service team continues to provide expert advice and service during the challenging times.

Our Service Team is top notch and their efforts and dedication do not go unnoticed by not only our customers but everyone at Haun.

January is National Eye Care month!

Eyesight is one of your most important senses because your eyes allow you to connect with your surroundings, keep you safe, and help you remain mentally sharp. By protecting your eyes, especially as you age, you'll reduce your odds of blindness or low vision while also staying on top of any developing eye diseases, like cataracts, glaucoma, or diabetic retinopathy. The sooner you discover and address an eye condition, the more likely you are to maintain healthy vision.
